1966 WICKIUP

Idaho State University

Fellow ISU Students:

The 1965-66 college year at Idaho State University has been an interesting one— it developed into a year of change. No one, especially the leaders of this school, seemed to want to stand still. As many newcomers and therefore somewhat as an observer, I was delighted to find ISU attempting to take an active part in the world around it. Idaho State is a friendly school, and the students here are continuously broadening their experiences from the small campus community to the greater opportunities in a practical city, state and nation. Many new ideas were formulated by students and administration that have actually become fact, and the future will undoubtedly hold more of the same.

We, the students, learned much from each other, and we would be foolish not to admit that doors, previously nonexistent, have opened wide. What is left for us now is to step through the opening and, with eagerness, face the other side.

I finish the editing of this 1966 Wickiup with mixed emotions, happy to have one more year at this University, but a little envious too of the graduating seniors of 1966. Congratulations seniors; we will miss you.

Before closing this letter I wish to express my sincere thanks to the others of my staff for their hard work, especially to Aron Mitchell, Assistant Editor, for his imagination and continual dedication to a fine job. The success of a yearbook depends, though, on it subjects for cooperation, and that I received from the participating individuals of organizations and activities.

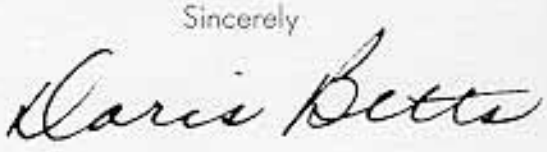
The faculty advisor, Bill Harwood, was always willing to assist; and for financial advice and behind-the-scenes support, Earl Pond and Huldah Bell were wonderful friends.

The fine work of Ashton Henderson Photos must not go uncounted. He expertly "shot" the graduating seniors and many of the organization pictures.

Finally, but nonetheless one of the most deserving of thanks is Lloyd Furniss, school photographer, who is always there for another picture, another appointment. He is known not only to us, but to all of Idaho and elsewhere as one of the best of his kind.

And so as I close I must leave you with the hope that THE SUN AND SHADOWS OF EXPERIENCE LEAD TO A BETTER DAY.

Sincerely



DORIS BETTS
