

Football

v a r s i

Sometimes winning and sometimes losing, but always fighting, staunch Bengal gridders finished one of their most successful seasons this year in the sunny plains of California. Under the directing talents of Coaches Guy Wicks and John Vesser, Bengal praise was sung by sport fans and students even in defeat, and they tasted defeat in their first encounter, when a strong array of Greeley footballers put on a flash of power to down the Bengals by a score of 13 to 0. This game was the only time during the season that the Wicksmen failed to score, and it was the third time in five years of Wicks reign that a touchdown has failed to be a reward for an afternoon on the gridiron.

Back row—Woodrow Eriksen, Dean Lamont, Cliff Palfreyman, Marcel Jergesen, Ray Turner, Stan Ehler, Cleo Rowe, Jack Kuhl, Roland Kramer; middle row—Everett Scott, Wayne Turner, Ray Jergesen, Bob Goodnight, Spence Klevenow, Cliff Brandel, Norman Nelson, Bill Lockey, Keith Homan, Lowell Scott; bottom row—John Woffington, Emmett Gibb, Lyle Scott, Ted Fischer, James Erley, Don Conyers, Woodrow Lundberg, captain; Wiley Howell, Albert Olson, Rollo Morris, Jedd Owens.

t 4

COACH GUY WICKS
Who completes his fifth year as football mentor.

JOHN VESSER
Assistant Coach

The next week saw the Bengals resting, since there was a lull in the schedule. When the next Saturday afternoon rolled around, however, victory was the fare of the Bengals as they stopped an aerial attack by a visiting Compton Junior College from California to emerge with a 16 to 0 score. Woffington of the Bengals ran the gamut of football thrills by scoring twice from far afield. A safety in the third quarter made the score 16. One interesting fact was brought out in that game. Where in former years the Bengals usually pulled themselves out of tight spots with a touchdown pass, power was the keynote of this battle with the Californians.

It was said around the dressing rooms that Albion Normal won a game from the mighty Bengals last year, and some of our warriors were having a little trouble explaining the defeat to folks back home, but the task was made a little easier this year when the Bengals unleashed an attack of power that left Albion breathless and defeated by a score of 13 to 6. The game was characterized by all of the vehemence that usually comes with a Bengal-Panther contest. Woody Lundberg worked from the fullback spot, and it was his brilliant cutback work that put the Bengals in the victory column for the second time that year. Of course, ten other players were making those holes for the cutbacks, but it isn't everyone that can find them.

Below—Bengal Defense functions to stop a power attack.

Bottom—A Bengal power play meets opposition in its embryonic stage.

Right—A five yard advance as Bengals pull a spinner.

7

Below — Captain Woodrow Lundberg, whose plunges, passes, and punts were a feature of the season.

o o t b a l l

Then the Bengals left for Montana, and there are some who think they should have stayed home. It is also said that the wind blew so hard while the game was being played that opposing guards had to hold the ball while the opponent was in the huddle. When it was kicked on one occasion, one of the referees who went after the ball was gone so long that tea was ordered for the people in the stands. The result, after most of the

Clifford Brandel, halfback
James Erley, quarterback

Cliff Palfreyman, tackle
Norman Nelson, halfback

Cleo Rowe, guard
Bill Lockey, tackle

Below—Bengal blocking as Lundberg gets off a punt.

Bottom—Into the line for a few precious yards.

Right—Klevenow around left end against Omaha.

7

turf had been uprooted by the gale, was 10 to 6, Idaho taking the second defeat with considerable determination to win their next encounter.

After another week's layoff, the Bengals continued their annual revenge against the College of Idaho Coyotes, and simultaneously showed an enthusiastic group of homecoming celebrants how to stop "Rabbit" Bennet, Coyote satellite, and win a football game by a score of 13 to 6. The game, except for the brilliant playing of Bennet, was all Bengal, since they rolled up 14 first downs to 11 for the vanquished College. This is the fifth straight year that the Bengals have emerged victorious over the College of Idaho, but before that time the Coyotes had won every game played, and some of them by embarrassing scores.

o o t b a l l

On the heels of this triumph, Bengal warriors of the striped rectangle pulled one out

Stan Ehler, end
Roland Kramer, guard

Jedd Owens, quarterback
Wiley Howell, guard

Emmett Gibb, end
Bob Goodnight, guard

Right—Lundberg leads a play around end.

Below—Now who has the ball? They wonder.

Bottom—An opponent gets stopped by Bengal defense maneuvers.

7

of the hat and won a game that they absolutely weren't supposed to, if predictions of the experts can be given consideration. Omaha University sent 30 black clad young men over the hills to Pocatello for the first game between the two schools. History was made at Idaho Southern when we won 6 to 0. It was Woffington, again, who started the rally that pushed the ball across the goal line that sent the Indians home defeated.

o o t b a l l

What happened the next week when the Bengals made their annual trip to California was more or less an anti-climax. The Chaffee Junior College team from Ontario played host to the Bengals on Thanksgiving Day. And the Bengals violated that hospitality by winning a good football game by one point. This was the only game the Bengals played under artificial lights, and they won by a score of 14-13. The team, after making a tour

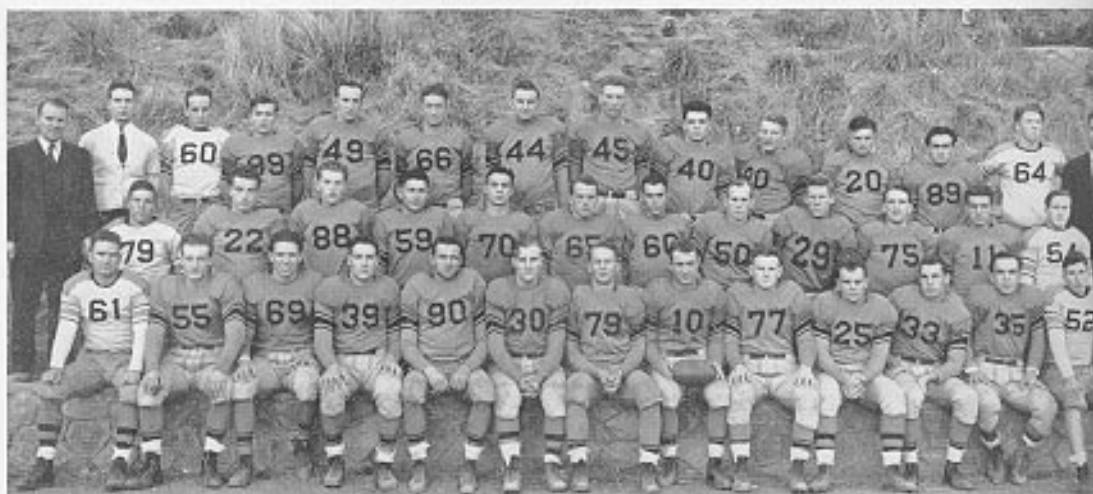

Keith Homan, halfback
Lyle Scott, tackle

John Woffington, halfback
Ray Turner, center

Ray Jorgensen, end
Spence Kleveland, halfback

Back row—Coach Guy Wicks, Manager Jack Williams, Sayre, Erikson, Lamont, Palfreyman, Jergeson, Turner, Khler, Rowe, Kuhl, Kramer, Waugh, Assistant Coach John Vinner; middle row—Hull, Scott, Turner, Jergeson, Goodnight, Klevenow, Brandel, Nelson, Lockey, Homan, Scott, Smith; bottom row—Gannon, Wodington, Gibb, Scott, Fischer, Erley, Conyers, Lundberg, Captain; Howell, Olson, Morris, Owens, Seppl.

Squad

of the city of Los Angeles, returned to their studies at home, hung up their moleskins, and forgot the game of football for another year.

SCHEDULE

Bengals	0	Greeley State	13
Bengals	16	Compton Junior College	0
Bengals	13	Albion Normal	6
Bengals	6	Montana State	10
Bengals	13	College of Idaho	6
Bengals	6	Omaha University	0
Bengals	14	Chaffee Junior College	13