

FOOTBALL

Sitting—Arnold, Beitz, McCain, Poulton, Woodland, Wilson, Cronkhite, Sherman, Simmons, Giese. Kneeling—Day, McMurray, Stoolo, Wade, Terry, Snapp, Richardson, Shaffar. Standing—assistant coach Carte, Robinson, Res Wells, Hulbert, Bandy, Ray Wells, Nield, Cooper, coach Vesser.

Coach John Vesser

The football squad pauses for a rest after having fought a hard battle during the first half.

Football

One of the largest turnout of players in many years greeted the Idaho Southern Campus. Previous lettermen that boosted the offensive power of the Bengal team were: Reid Wilson, Bud Simmons, Ray Wells, Rex Wells, Bob McCain, and Willard Beitz. These veterans and a host of new outstanding players were led through a successful season by coach John Vesser and assistant coach Walt Carte. The first test of Idaho Southern's strength occurred at Weber College. During the game it became apparent that our team was made up of many good men. Snapp played a wonderful defensive game, and accompanied with the aggressiveness of Jack Cronkhite, Idaho Southern achieved its first victory. The score was Idaho Southern—13, Weber—0.

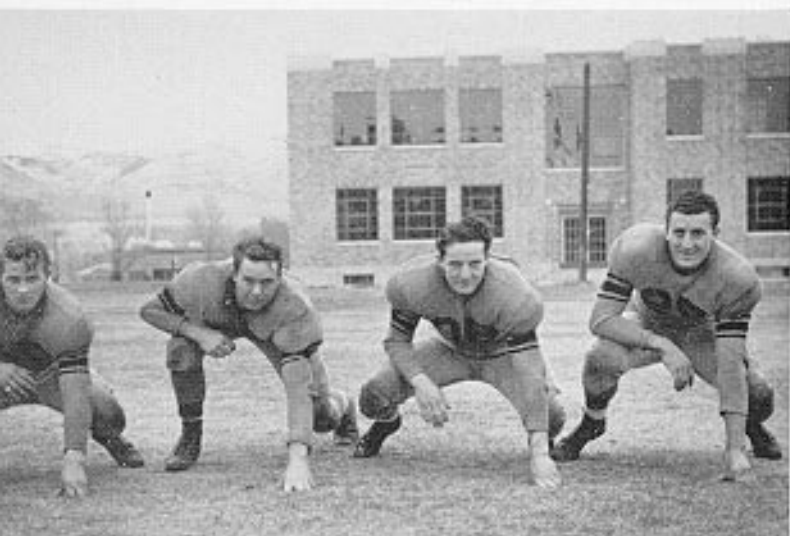

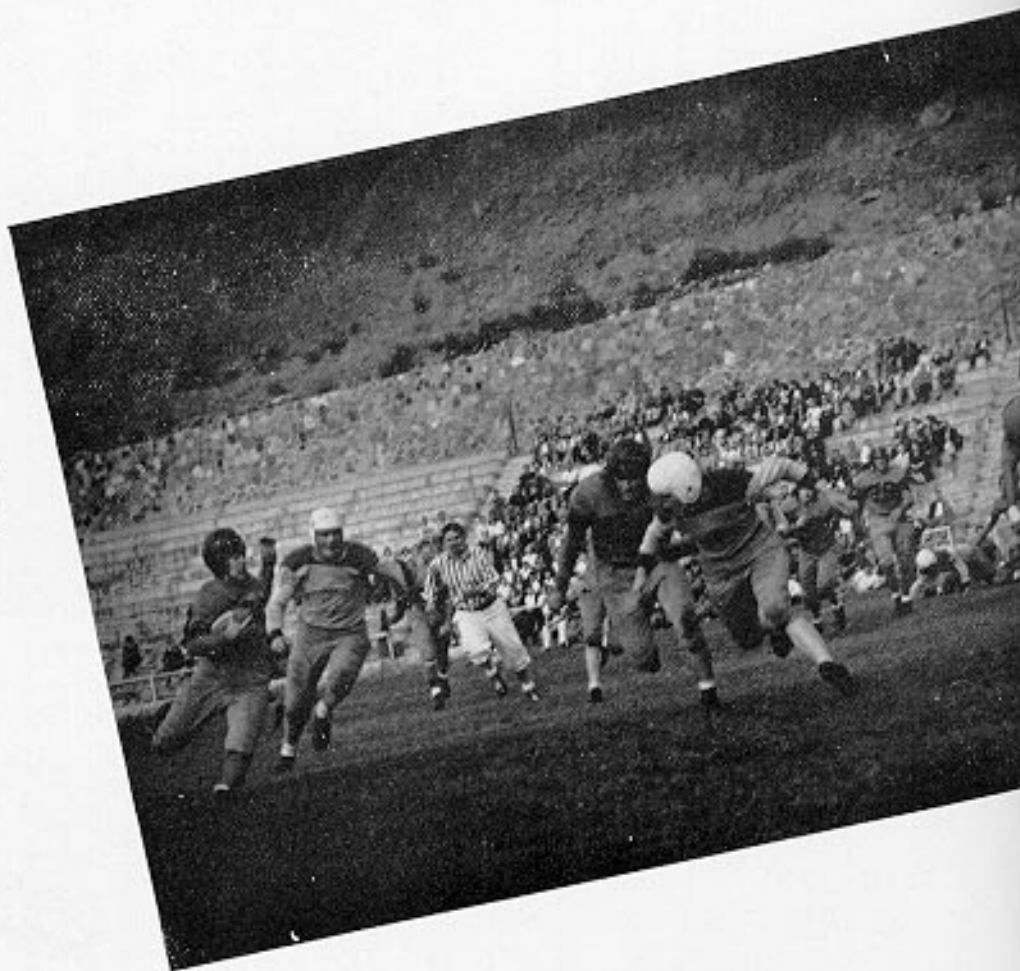

Bill Wade, Bob Bandy—centers.

Varsity S

Cronkite sweeps wide around right end to evade Marino tacklers. Wilson offers help by throwing a block.

Merve Robinson, Ralph Nield, Rex Wells,
Ray Wells—Ends.

quad

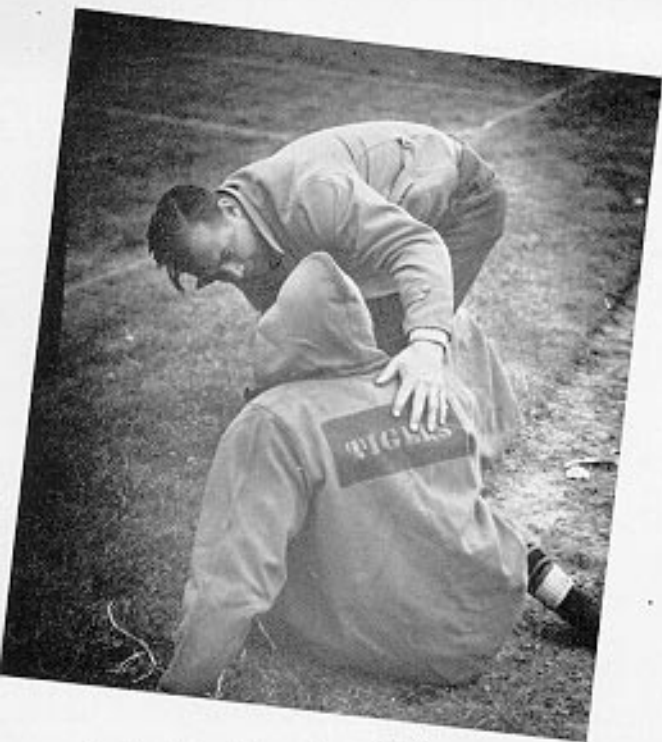

Port McMurray, Willard Beitz, Ural Snapp, Glen Terry—Backs.

A hard fought night game was played on the College of Idaho gridiron, with Idaho Southern fighting its way to a final victory of 6-0. A defensive backfield of the College of Idaho held the score to a minimum. A highlight of the game was a running attack led by Crankhite of Idaho Southern.

The first of Idaho Southern scheduled games with service teams was with the Logan Marines. In this game the Bengals fought their way to a well earned victory of 27-0. Outstanding on the offense for Idaho Southern were Hulbert and Wilson, and on the defense, Wade. The winners were underrated by weight, but speed and quick thinking enabled them to win.

Resorting to power plays Idaho Southern drove the Compton team into submission 7-0. Wilson and McCain alternated on the offensive action while Wade stopped many Compton plays on the line. Both teams fought hard, but it was the defense of both sides that dominated the game.

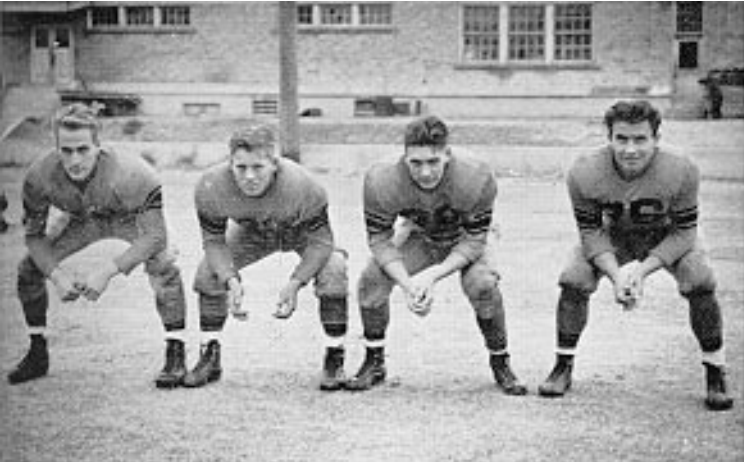

Coach Johnny Vesser gives final instructions before sending Terry into the game.

Varsity

The supporting team, coaches Vesser and Carte witness an intense moment of the Compton College game.

Reid Wilson, Dutch Sherman, Mel Hulbert, Bob McCain—Backs.

ty Gridders

Jack Gieso, Owen Woodland, Keith Poulton, Red Shaffer—Guards.

It seemed as though Idaho Southern was on its way to a perfect season, not having been scored on previously, but fate came and the Bengals suffered their first defeat of the season. The Bengals were surprised in the first quarter by the lightning running attack of Colorado. A recovered team after the first quarter, the Bengals found it was too late to win. The score was Idaho Southern—7, Colorado State—21.

Bad luck again hit the Bengal camp as they met defeat from the strong Fort Douglas team. The Adelt to MacDonough passing combination shattered Bengals' chances for victory. Fort Douglas won 39-17.